

Full-Time Faculty Positions at Roosevelt University

Modern Europe, Social & Cultural History. Roosevelt University seeks a tenure-track assistant professor with a specialization in the social and cultural history of modern Europe and an ability to teach the world history survey course, Latin American history and possibly our Great Ideas sequence, a freshman seminar using primary texts. Applicants must have their Ph.D. by August 2006, and we also welcome applicants with an established scholarly record, significant teaching experience, and administrative potential. Faculty teach six courses per year and are expected to teach at our downtown and northwest suburban campuses. Applications from women and under-represented groups encouraged. Send cover letter, cv and three recommendation letters to: Susan Weininger, Chair, Department of History, Art History and Philosophy, Roosevelt University, 430 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago, IL 60605-1394. Deadline: Nov. 1. Roosevelt University is an AA/EE0 employer. www.roosevelt.edu

U.S. Since 1861/Race & Ethnicity. Roosevelt University seeks a tenure-track assistant professor in U.S. History since 1861 with a specialization in race and ethnicity, and an ability to teach African American history. Applicants must have their Ph.D. by August 2006, and we also welcome applicants with an established scholarly record, significant teaching experience and administrative potential. Faculty teach six courses per year and are expected to teach at our downtown and northwest suburban campuses. Applications from women and under-represented groups encouraged. Send cover letter, cv and three recommendation letters to: Susan Weininger, Chair, Department of History, Art History and Philosophy, Roosevelt University, 430 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago, IL 60605-1394. Deadline: Nov. 1. Roosevelt University is an AA/EEO employer. www.roosevelt.edu